Saturday Night Zero Hour; Now Is the Time to Win!

The Race is Settling Down. There Are no Changes in the Line-up To-day. Is That the Way They Will Finish?

Saturday night, October 10th, is positively the last chance to get the big credits in the campaign. Never again will subscriptions count as much as they do now and up until the closing hour Saturday night. Under no circumstances will credits on subscriptions be increased during the balance of the campaign.

With honors thus far about equally divided, leading candidates are preparing with feverish haste and intensity to make their final stand for victory before Saturday night, the close of the "Second Period" and, incidentally the last of subscriptions to be accepted by the campaign department.

Hundreds of subscriptions will be turned in to this office this week. Will you get your share of them? You will if your mind is made up to win. To hesitate now would be to lose the prize that is worth a fortune and one that is coveted by every worker in the race. Interest in the race is running high and hundreds of friends are watching the outcome.

Community pride as well as personal pride is very evident and the race has been fast and furious for the past few days. It is more than probable that the credits gained this week, before the drop in values, are apt to be the deciding factor.

Double Credits Off Saturday
All credits "drop" Saturday night, BUT the most important change is that there are no more DOUBLE credits issued on NEW subscriptions after October 10th. Note the difference: a new five-year subscription turned in by Saturday night earns 160,000 credits but next week it is worth only 80,000 credits. Even the one-year has a big difference—it is worth 4,000 credits now but only 1,000 next week. Other years decrease in like proportions. The big credits will soon be over. It is now or never!

Chance to Win Now
From the above figures you can see that if any worker can step out with a good-sized lead, it would be a hard job for a competitor to catch up with them using the smaller credits. That is why we say that leaders on the next count should be the final winners. Don't flatter yourself that you have enough credits to win for you will surely be disappointed. You had better win by a million too many credits than lose by a few thousand.

We put it squarely up to you. Time is getting short and credits are getting smaller. On your toes candidates and friends of candidates, it will soon be that old cry—TOO LATE.

Be Safe Saturday
The "Second Period" will end on Saturday night and all candidates have reported in full and credits will take another drop and double credits on new subscriptions will be discontinued. Next week candidates will make their reports in private and drop them in a sealed ballot box in the Bank of Montreal. No one, not even the campaign managers, will know how much business is done by any worker. At the close of the campaign Saturday, October 17th, a committee of local men will open the box, check the contents and award the prizes. Watch next week's paper for final details of the count.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER FOR RECENT BRIDE

Those present were Mrs. Arnold Ellis, Mrs. H. B. Hanson, Mrs. E. Recknagle, Misses O. Kuehn, M. Keeley, M. Gullekson, P. Mayrand, G. Rimmers, A. Kadlec, J. Walker, F. Walker, D. Krutzfeldt, J. Obituary

MRS. G. FORSELL

A gloom was cast over the Falun district in the sudden passing away of Mrs. Forsell, beloved wife of Gustaf Forsell, of Falun, on Thursday afternoon, October 1st, at the age of 74 years, two months and twenty-five days. Mrs. Forsell was born in Sweden, July 6th, 1857. She emigrated to the U.S.A. in 1880, and was united in marriage to Gustaf Forsell in 1897, in Oregon. They came to Alberta in 1901 and lived in the Nashville district for one year, when they moved to Falun, where they have resided since. The marriage was blessed with two children, both of whom died in infancy. She was active in Christian work and the hospitality of her home and her kindly Christian disposition were known and appreciated by a wide circle of friends.

The removal of one so loyal to her service and so consistent in her life, leaves a vacancy which is hard to fill. She is survived by her husband and one brother in Oregon.

The funeral service was held at the Swedish Baptist church of Wetaskiwin, Sunday, Oct. 4th, at 1:30 p.m. Rev. P. M. Meyer officiated, assisted by Rev. J. A. Wingblad, which was largely attended by the many friends of the deceased. Interment took place in the Wetaskiwin cemetery.

The pallbearers were: Messrs. O. Lindstrom, E. D. Swanson, E. E. Mattson, O. Brown, C. Isaacson and T. S. Steedman.

Beautiful floral tributes were received from the following: Gustaf and Mats, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Mattson, Mr. and Mrs. O. Mattson, Mr. and Mrs. C. Isaacson, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Edin and family, Mr. and Mrs. Soderstrom and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. Milton and family, Mr. and Mrs. Axel Holm and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wingblad, Mr. and Mrs. E. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. O. Lindstrom, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Eklund and family, the Falun Women's Institute, the Sunbeam Y.P.S. of the Wetaskiwin and Nashville Baptist Churches.

BURGESS TO VOTE ON
The ratemakers of the City are requested to use their vote on Wednesday, October 14th, to vote for or against the Money By-Law No. 713 for the purpose of grading and fixing the main highways through the city. The amount asked for is $5000 according to the terms set forth as advertised.

The By-Law has been approved by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners and now awaits the sanction of the ratemakers. Be sure and cast your vote next Wednesday at the City Council Chamber.

FARM CREDITS COMPANY
SOON IN OPERATION
Regina, Oct. 2.—Completion of organization work of the Dominion Agricultural Credit Company was announced today by E. W. Beatty, K.C., president of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Mr. Beatty's statement was made at Regina, where he stopped for a few hours in the course of a western inspection trip.

In part he said: "Subscriptions to more than 60 per cent of the capital stock of the Dominion Agricultural Credit Company have been received and the requisite steps to complete the organization have been taken."

"Two additional directors, both from Western Canada, remain to be selected and the head office of the company will be in the city of Regina."

"The company will, therefore, be in a position to function almost immediately."

P. A. Miquelon, General Organizer of the Order of Elks, was at Ponoka in the interests of the order last week.

HOSPITAL PROPOSITION

DEFEATED BY M.D. BIGSTONE

The vote in the Municipal District of Bigstone on the proposed new hospital for Wetaskiwin, created quite a surprise as the five polls heard from give an overwhelming majority against the scheme. The report from the Pius Hall poll has not been received, but we understand the report from the other polls in the Municipality are as follows:

Falun	33	59
Brightview	21	20
Hillside	27	28
Patience	10	35
Unland's	2	11
	93	153

NO WETASKIWIN HOSPITAL

VOTE ON WEDNESDAY

Owing to the Municipal District of Bigstone defeating the hospital scheme by their vote on Saturday last, the entire proposition has been defeated for the time being. For this reason, no Wetaskiwin hospital vote will take place in the City on Wednesday of next week. The vote, however, on the by-law providing for the grading of the streets in the City will take place on that date, and it is hoped that many of the burgesses will turn out and register their approval of this progressive proposal.

WAR VETERAN DEAD

HONORED AT PONOKA

Ponoka, Sept. 29.—Over seven hundred citizens of Ponoka and district were in attendance at a dedication service held in Forest Home cemetery, Ponoka, Sunday afternoon, at which time a memorial cross erected by Ponoka branch of R.E.S.L. was unveiled by Lt. Col. R. W. Palmer, D.S.O. of Hobbsburg.

The cross is erected in the soldiers' plot; a section of the cemetery donated by the town for the burial of ex-service men, including those soldiers who through the misfortunes of war became penniless at the provincial mental hospital, and passed away without known relatives to make care of a fitting burial service.

The service was in charge of Rev. Davies.

Comrade H. Skinner, mayor of Ponoka, addressed the gathering, representing both Legion and town council.

To Our Subscribers

For the purpose of bringing our subscription lists up to date as well as securing many new subscribers, The Times is giving away many hundreds of dollars in prizes to a large group of candidates. These workers are each striving hard to win the Chevrolet sedan offered as first prize, and all of them will be winners of very substantial prizes.

The campaign is half over and in checking our mailing lists we find that a fair percentage have paid their subscription in advance, but there are many who are still far in arrears.

On behalf of the several candidates we ask those subscribers who are in arrears to send their remittances to one of the candidates. This method of paying up arrears will help the candidate of your choice, and will avoid any unpleasant misunderstandings.

The postal regulations and civil laws clearly state that these accounts are collectible and that it is not necessary for us to lose the amount of money due on them, and we do not intend to do so. Your subscription must be paid in full before it can lawfully be refused or discontinued. The date that your subscription expired is on the label on your paper each week.

The facts are these: All subscriptions not paid in full by the close of the campaign will be dealt with individually and many of them will be placed in the hands of our solicitors for collection and costs of collection will be added. All persons not able to pay before the end of the contest are requested to come to this office and explain the reasons why they cannot pay. Or if you are living at a distance from Wetaskiwin write a letter telling us when you will be able to meet your obligations for subscriptions.

On Friday, Oct. 2, votes were taken on those nominated and the following were elected:

Hon. Pres: Miss J. C. McLean, B.A. President: Bob Emmann.

First Vice-Pres.: Jim Odell.

Second Vice-Pres.: Edwin Lyle.

Secretary: Phyllis Williams.

Pianists: Ethelyn McPaul and David Appel.

WETASKIWIN TEACHER HAS NOT RESIGNED

Persistent untrue reports are being circulated that Mrs. H. R. C. Walker, teacher of Grade I, has resigned. In justice to Mrs. Walker, and those parents who are quite concerned about these reports, the School Board feel that they should let it be known that Mrs. Walker has not resigned and that she will honor her contract with the School Board. Mrs. Walker is giving excellent service and is held in high esteem.

Yours truly,
GEO. D. WALLACE,
Sec. Treas. Wetaskiwin S.D. 264.

On Tuesday evening, the Wetaskiwin Kiwanis Club had as their guests, Dr. Black, who organized the Canadian National Community Competition scheme, and the judges who were travelling through the Municipal District of Montgomery on Tuesday.

The speaker on this occasion was Dr. Black, who referred to his visit in Wetaskiwin over twenty years ago, and to the wonderful development which has taken place since that time. He was very favorably impressed with the community surrounding Wetaskiwin, as he observed it on his tour on Tuesday, in referring to the objects of the scheme he stated that the Canadian National Railway had something to do with bringing settlers to this country, and to encourage people of other lands who have made their homes here and this scheme is intended to be an incentive for the residents of the rural communities to become enterprising and progressive citizens.

These people coming from other lands are making their own contributions in music, art, folk dancing, etc., and they should be given every encouragement. The people of Western Canada are taking a genuine interest in this competition, as some sixty communities have entered this year, and much advancement has been made during the past twelve months. In concluding his remarks, Dr. Black thanked the people of the Municipal District of Montgomery for the interest they are taking in the scheme.

Mrs. Gunn, one of the judges, also spoke briefly and on behalf of the ladies of the fair, expressed her sincere appreciation for the kindness of the Club in including them as their guests at the luncheon.

Dr. Wallace, principal of the University of Alberta, also one of the judges, spoke briefly and he referred to the very favorable impression of the Angus Ridge district he received a year or two ago, when he was speaker at a luncheon held there. He also spoke of the efforts of the Kiwanis Club and the Board of Trade in endeavoring to make the proper luncheons with them from time to time. He also referred to the scholarships being given in connection with the University, and congratulated Wetaskiwin on having a student who had earned one of the three scholarships given outside of the city of Edmonton. Canada is lacking in scholarships and the Doctor was of the opinion that it would be better to give scholarships for higher education than to leave money with individuals, who might easily squander same.

Solos were rendered by Mrs. V. C. French and Mr. Davidson of Winnipeg. Mrs. Lem Mellett being accompanist.

FALUN BOY VICTIM OF SHOOTING ACCIDENT

A shooting accident took place at Falun on Sunday last, when Sherman, fifteen year old son of S. G. Simpson of Falun, shot his foot so badly that one toe had to be amputated shortly after he was brought to the Wetaskiwin hospital. Other shots penetrated the foot, but it is expected that he will only lose one toe. The lad was playing with the gun and did not know it was loaded.

A MID-WEEK MEETING AND THEN SOME

The mid-week meeting of the Norwegian Lutheran congregation was held at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Asper last Wednesday evening, September 30th. The meeting was conducted as usual, but after the Bible instruction was finished and the Benediction pronounced, the people seemed in no hurry to disperse. Then Mr. Ronnie called on Dr. Gullekson for a few remarks, and he explained that this was sort of a house-warming affair (the Asper's had just moved into Mrs. Postved's residence) and when the doctor had fittingly and eloquently explained the good purpose of the many friends present, they filed out one by one, but returned shortly, bringing with them bundles and packages and baskets and boxes until the pastor's kitchen looked on the appearance of a grocery store.

In the meantime some of the good ladies had been setting the table and making coffee, and soon the guests were invited to a bounteous lunch, after which a social hour was much enjoyed by all present.

It is a great encouragement to a pastor and his wife to receive such tangible signs of the good will and appreciation of the people they are endeavoring to serve.

CHURCH TRUANCY AND SPIRITUAL SUICIDE

It has been taken for granted that each and every congregation has its unwelcome share of truant members whose spiritual interests appear to be at a low ebb. However, the alarming danger of this unhealthy spiritual state is seldom realized by church-going people. It is an indisputable fact that church truant not infrequently commit spiritual suicide.

To simplify and clarify the meaning of church truancy and spiritual suicide let us contemplate the following illustration.

The barrel of water that stands under the water spout of a building is dependent upon the frequent falling of the rain for its continuous supply of water; and during the days and weeks between successive rains the water in the barrel, due to the heat of the sun and air, will evaporate at a rapid rate. But if the rainfall should prove scanty, then the evaporation of the water in the barrel will exceed the source of supply of water, because of the long interval between rains. Should the supplying rain not fall for a considerable period of time, the evaporation of the water in the barrel will become so complete that the barrel will dry up and fall to pieces.

A similar situation exists with many church members who fail to hear the Word of God divinely revealed. Each and every divine service which we wifely fail to attend and every sermon which we do not hear means that our spiritual evaporation has surpassed our offered spiritual supply to a certain definite extent.

What is the final result? The water barrel collapses and falls to pieces because of the complete evaporation of the water from it. So also many church people (whose spiritual evaporation has been hastened by the air of the world and heat of indifference) suffer a spiritual collapse and fall to pieces, never to be repaired by the Holy Ghost through the Word and Water of Life. Such a depleted state may be called a spiritual suicide. The tragedy of committing this fatal sin is that Regular and devout church attendance prevents spiritual evaporation because the Water of Life continues to give a never failing fresh spiritual supply.

MACHINES INSTEAD OF MEN

One machine shovel today can excavate as much dirt on a city street as it required 200 unskilled laborers to shovel 30 years ago.

Ten years ago an automatic machine for the making of electric light bulbs was invented which produced 73,000 in 24 hours—formerly one man could make 75 in a day. Recent improvements so increase this productivity that each machine replaces 2000 men.

The strip mining of coal has produced a power shovel that lifts a ton at a time, dumps it in cars and returns for a second bite in three-quarters of a minute.

A dough-mixer and one man do the work of 20 bakers.

One girl with a rib-cutting (clothing) machine does the work of 25 cutters; with a button-hole machine, that of 50.

The carton machine does the work of 10 hand wrappers.

One operator of an open hearth charging machine does the work of 40 workers.

A pig-casting machine with seven operators took the place of 60 workers.

With a cigar-making machine, one man does the work of 15.

Two men do the work of eight, helped by an automatic shifter.

An automatic conveyor enables 12 men to do the work of 150.

The Boston and Maine Railway has installed a mechanical device by which two or three men switch as many cars as 400 previously set about the yard.

The dictaphone makes it possible for two typists to do the work of 10 stenographers.

A cheque writing machine that does the work of six clerks is in successful use.

The magnetic crane operated by two men replaces 125.

Twelve men operating a crane take the place of 37 in pouring molten metal.

An automatic butter wrapper and card printing machine will wrap in quarter portions and put cartons on more than six tons of butter in eight hours.

In modern steel making, eight men turn out 100 tons, where formerly they turned out 5½ tons.

The making of books is now done by machines. In one bindery, 60,000 are bound, boxed and shipped in one day.

The dial telephone reduces the operating force to one-third.

It is estimated that under old-hand methods it would require 1,000,000 men to make 10,000 Ford cars in the time now required, and they would cost $10,000 each.

While the above by no means completely give a fair idea of the trend of modern industry, agriculture and commerce.

"These are the best ages we've had for years," said a waiter in a Camrose restaurant. "Well, bring me some you haven't had so long," replied the customer.

WHO'S WHO

(By Geo)

Mr. Justice W. M. Martin

ONE of the most important committees of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference is known as the Citizens' Committee. This committee acts as a medium through which matters pertaining to the mutual welfare of the Exhibition and Conference and the city of Regina (where the world event is to be held in 1932) are carried to the organizations having representation on the committee.

Mr. Justice W. M. Martin, of the Court of Appeal of Saskatchewan, is chairman of the citizens' committee. He was born at Norwich, Oxford County, Ontario, and received his education at the Exeter Public School, Clinton Collegiate Institute, Toronto University and Osgoode Hall.

Moving to Regina in 1903, Judge Martin engaged in the practice of law. He was elected to the House of Commons as member for Regina in the elections of 1908 and 1911. In 1916 he was called upon to assume the Premiership of Saskatchewan and also took the portfolio of education. He became a member of the Court of Appeal of Saskatchewan in 1922.

BUYERS OF GRAPES ARE PROTECTED BY GOVERNMENT INSPECTION

Only grapes that have passed the rigid government inspection are sent as exports out of Ontario, and this is a very important consideration, or should be, for the purchaser, for when the government official places his stamp of approval on the container, the buyer may rest assured that he is getting the highest quality produce grown in the fruit belt.

Every basket of Canadian-grown "Big O" brand grapes is guaranteed to comply with the regulations of the Fruit Act.

The thorough inspection in the buyer's safeguard and the grade name in itself is a guarantee of high quality. Everyone should buy Canadian-grown grapes for they are without equal in size, sweetness and quality and there are many ways in which the housewife can prepare appetizing dishes from the luscious sun-ripened fruit.

For wine-making purposes, for grape juice and in jams, jellies, etc., they excel. In each Government-inspected "Big O" brand basket will be found recipe suggestions which should appeal.

CITY VS. COUNTRY

One reason the city newspaper man can "print" all the news that is fit to "print" is because he does not have to live in close daily association with his victims as does the country paper man. Another reason is because he has no opportunity for close-up views of residents of prying into intimate personal affairs and having them bare to public gaze. It is no excuse to say the public demand such things. All of us want lots of things that are none of our business.

Thumb Nail Sketches
By Cy

Two Fur Coats

IT was at Toronto Exhibition last year. A typical American farmer, a true Uncle Sam, even to the bit of spinach on his chin, strolled along the passage way scrutinizing the exhibits. He was a married man of some years standing, as evidenced by the fact that his wife, to whom he spoke frequently, strolled along a few feet in the rear.

Finally he stood quite still and gazed over the passage way. His eyes were fixed upon a moderately sized printed card, framed and supported by an easel which rested upon a table inside the railing.

The expression of his mouth said plainly, "Here's something good. It'll be a new one on neighbor Sam." For a few moments after the arrival of the wife the two were quiet, animated, but rather happy conversation, accompanied with glances and thumb pointing at the easel across the way. Then the pair, single file, proceeded to cross over.

The attendant who sat by the table upon which the easel rested was attentive and talkative.

"Well, brother, I'll bet. What's the joke?" said our American cousin.

"There is no joke," said the attendant. "If you can place in the hands of the Secretary of this organization at Regina on or before March 1st, 1932, the ten ears of corn which a competent committee of judges conclude are the best ten ears of corn in the world, we will pay you $800 in good Canadian cash—and you can take the corn back home with you."

The eyes of the pair shifted to the large painting at the rear of the exhibit. "Oh, I see, Mother," said he to Mrs. Sam, "this is a grain show."

They looked again at the easel. "Egad," he muttered, "that's $80 a cob—a big fishy, isn't it?"

Then to the wife, "Say, Mother, what did I get at Chicago that time my corn got into the money class?"

She spoke now for the first time. "$20," she informed him. "Pretty big prize, $800!"

"Gimme some of your literature," he requested. "You Canadian have put one over us for the present, but wait till 1932 before you crow too loud. Mother and I had planned to take a trip to Texas in '32 but we're coming to Regina and we're going to bring that corn along with us. $800 of good Canadian cash looks good to me. Two nice fur coats—one for mother and one for me—will help us to put on a bit of style befitting a visit from the 'World's Corn King' when we come back in 1932 to thank you personally for your generosity."

"Good-bye and good luck!"

Mr. and Mrs. Sam crossed to the other side of the passage way and resumed their sight seeing where they left off a short time before.

The easel and the card now reposes on the attendant's desk in the office of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference at Regina. The offer, "$800 for ten ears of corn" still stands good and it is open to all the world.

A BITE OF HOME COOKING

(By Barbara B. Brooks)

The first few days of college life are always exciting. There are new faces, new classes, and an entirely new routine. Everyone is gay and happy. Even the meals at the dormitories seem good—at first. But after a few weeks have passed, the food begins to lose its savor and all the collegiate glamour will not make it taste like home cooking.

When a letter from home tells that a box of food is being sent parcel post, it is good news. Its arrival is anticipated with great joy and the day is utterly ruined if the post man fails to bring it at the expected time.

Cookies and cakes are very good travelers and should always be included in the box. It is well to remember that if honey is used as a sweetening in these baked foods they will stay fresh much longer than if sugar is used. The food for which recipes are given here will be just as good, and even better, when it arrives than when it started.

Honey Bran Spice Cookies
½ cup shortening, ¼ cup honey, 1 egg (well beaten), 1 cup all-bran, 1½ cups flour, ¼ teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon soda, 1 cup chopped raisins.

Cream shortening and honey. Add eggs, all-bran, sifted dry ingredients and raisins. Drop by teaspoonfuls on a greased baking sheet, keeping them 2½ inches apart. Bake in a moderate oven (400 deg. F.) about 30 minutes. Yield: 2 dozen cookies 3 inches in diameter.

Honey Date Bars
2 cups dates, seeded and chopped fine, ½ cup nut meats, cut fine, 2 eggs, beaten light, ¼ cup honey, ¼ cup flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ¼ cup palm oil.

Mix well, bake 20 minutes in moderate oven (375 deg. F.). Cut in bars and roll in powdered sugar.

Honey-Krisp Cookies
½ cup shortening, ½ cup honey, 2 eggs (well beaten), ½ cup sour cream, 1½ cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon soda, ½ cup nut meats (black walnuts are delicious), ½ cup chopped dates, 1 cup rice krispies, nutmeg or vanilla flavoring.

Cream shortening and honey. Add eggs and sour cream. Sift the flour with baking powder, salt, soda and add to first mixture. Stir in dates, nuts and rice krispies. Add flavoring. Drop with dessert spoon on buttered pan and bake in moderate oven. Yield: 2 dozen cookies.

A small jar of jelly or jam or a few sugared almonds will fill in the corners of this box which is "college bound."

Sugared Almonds
1 pound shelled almonds, 1 pound sugar, ½ cup water.

Put the almonds into a heavy frying pan with sugar and water and cook until the syrup forms the hard ball test in cold water. Remove from the fire and work with a spoon until the sugar granulates and separator from the nuts. Remove half the sugar and continue cooking nuts with the other half. When the almonds have taken up this sugar, add the remainder little by little until it has all been taken up by the nuts. Remove from the fire and shake in a sieve until the nuts which stick together are separated.

URGES LOCAL WAR TO RID CANADA OF INSECT PESTS

An appeal to residents of Wetaskiwin to take up the cudgels of war against flies, mosquitoes and other insect pests, is made by Wade Morrow, Canadian director of the Rex Research Foundation, of Toronto, Ont., in a message to The Times.

The Rex Research Foundation is an international organization devoted to war on harmful insects. Mr. Morrow stated that, since the severe outbreak in 1912, the public has been lax in keeping down these pests.

Warm, moist weather in many sections has aided a widespread increase of flies and mosquitoes. He urged that an extermination campaign be undertaken not alone for its immediate results but as a precaution against larvae deposits that will result in horde of insects infesting this locality next year.

Both these dangerous and deadly pests. The best and most efficient method is for every householder, storekeeper or farmer to spray their homes, stores and barns twice daily with good insecticide. Swatting the fly or the use of flypapers in homes is inefficient, destroying only a few.

"Spraying not only destroys flies and mosquitoes present; it will keep other insects from entering for a period of time.

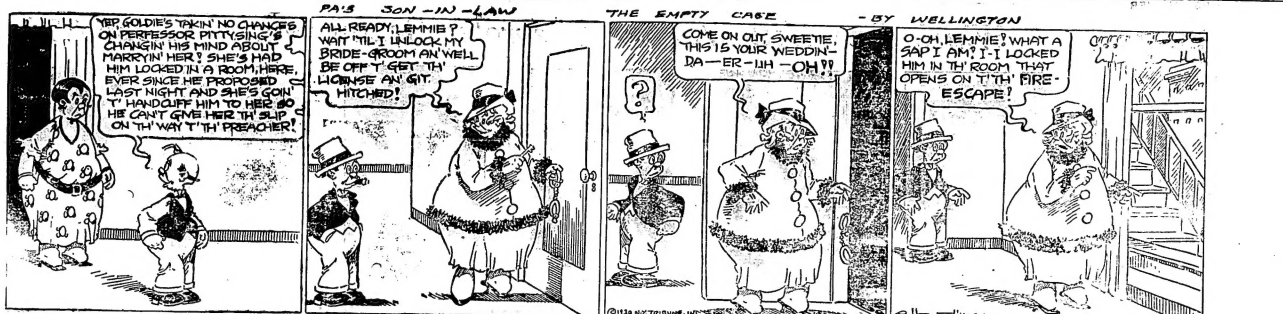

"Cool weather causes insects to hide in places inaccessible to extermination methods other than a mist spray. And fall flies are a greater menace than those in summer because of their propagation possibilities for the following season. Extermination one fly this fall and you prevent millions from hatching in the spring.

His Face Was Covered With Sore Pimples

Mr. George Cheverton, Ruxwray, Ont., writes—"My face was covered with sore pimples which no treatment I had tried would rid me of them. Then there came a day when a friend suggested I try Burdock Blood Bitters. Well, I did, and after the first bottle my face was fairly well cleared up of the pimples, and I was feeling that I had more life in me, and before the end of the second bottle I was like a different man; full of energy, and could eat, sleep and work like a young man of twenty-five should. I have the third bottle on hand, not that I need a tonic, but I intend to always take an occasional dose of B.B.B., as I want to keep the skin as I have acquired with the help."

FIRST INSTALLMENT

The rather extraordinary story revealed by the experiments of the Neighborhood Club have been until now a matter only of private record. But it seems to me, as an active participant in the investigations, that they should be given to the public; not so much for what they will add to the existing data on physical research, for from that angle they were not unusual, but as yet another exploration into that still uncharted territory, the human mind.

The psychoanalysts have taught us something about the individual mind. They have their own pattern, of complexes and primal instincts, of the unconscious, which is a sort of bonded warehouse from which we clandestinely withdraw our stored thoughts and impressions. They lay to this unconscious mind of ours all phenomena that cannot otherwise be labeled, and ascribe such demonstrations of power as cannot thus be explained to trickery, to black silk threads and folding rods, to slates with false sides and a medium with chalk on his finger nail.

In other words, they give us subjective mind but never objective mind. They take the mind and its reactions on itself, and on the body. But what about objective mind? Does it make its only outward manifestations through speech and action? Can we ignore the effect of mind on mind, when there are present none of the ordinary media of communication? I think not.

I think, looking back, that it was Sperry who turned the talk to the supernatural.

In making the following statement concerning our part in the strange case of Arthur Wells, a certain allowance must be made for our ignorance of so-called psychic phenomena, and also for the fact that since that time, just before the war, great advances have been made in scientific methods of investigation. For instance, we did not place Miss Jeremy's chair on a scale, to measure her for any loss of weight. Also the theory of rods of invisible matter emanating from the medium's body, to move bodies, at a distance from her, had only been evolved; and none of the methods for calculation of leverages and strains had been formulated, so far as I know.

To be frank, I am quite convinced, that, even had we known of these so-called explanations, which in reality explain nothing, we would have ignored them as we became involved in the dramatic movement of the revelations and the personal experiences which grew out of them. I confess that following the night after the first seance any observations of mine would have been of no scientific value whatever, and I believe I can speak for the others also.

Of the medium herself I can only say that we have never questioned her integrity. The physical phenomena occurred before she went into trance, and during that time her forearms were rigid. During the deep trance, with which this unusual record deals, she spoke in her own voice, but in a querulous tone, and Sperry's examination of her pulse showed that it went from eighty normal to a hundred and twenty and very feeble.

With this preface I come to the death of Arthur Wells, our acquaintance and neighbor and the investigation into that death by a group of six earnest people who call themselves the Neighborhood Club.

The Neighborhood Club was organized in my house. It was too small really to be called a club, but women have a way these days of conferring a titular dignity on their activities, and it is not so bad, after all. The Neighborhood Club it really was, composed of four of our neighbors, my wife, and myself.

We had drifted into the habit of dining together on Monday evenings at the different houses. There were Herbert Robinson and his sister Alice—not a young woman, but clever, alert, and very alive; Sperry, the well-known heart specialist, a bachelor still in spite of much feminine activity; and there was old Mrs. Dane, hopelessly crippled as to the knees with rheumatism, but one of those glowing and kindly souls that have a way of being a neighborhood nucleus. It was around her that we first gathered, with an idea of forming for her certain contact points with the active life from which she was otherwise cut off. But she gave us, I am sure, more than we brought her, and, as will be seen later, her shrewdness was an important element in solving our mystery.

In addition to these four there were my wife and myself. It had been our policy to take up different subjects for these neighborhood dinners. Sperry was a reformer in his way, and on his nights we generally took up civic questions. He was particularly interested in the responsibility of the state to the sick poor. My wife and I had "political" evenings. Not really politics, except in their relation to life. I am a lawyer by profession, and dabble a bit in city government. The Robinsons had literature.

Don't misunderstand me. We had no papers, nor set programs. On the Robinson evenings we discussed editorials and current periodicals, as well as the new books and plays. We were frequently veracious, I fear, but our small wrangles ended with the evening. Robinson was the literary editor of a paper, and his sister read for a large publishing house.

Mrs. Dane was a free-lance. "Give me that privilege," she begged. "At least, until you find my evenings dull. It gives me, during all the week before you come, a sort of thrilling feeling that the world is mine to choose from." The result was never dull. She led us all the way from moving-pictures to modern dress.

She led us even further, as you will see. On consulting my note-book I find that the first evening which directly concerns the Arthur Wells case was Monday, November the second, of last year. It was a curious day, to begin with. There came days, now and then, that bring with them a strange sort of mental excitement. I have never analyzed them. With me on this occasion it took the form of nervous irritability, and something of apprehension. My wife, I remember, complained of headache, and one of the stenographers had a fainting attack.

I have often wondered for how much of what happened to Arthur Wells the day was responsible. There are days when the world is a place for love and play and laughter. And then there are sinister days, when the earth is a hideous place, when even the thought of immortality is unbearable, and life itself a burden; when all that is riotous and unlawful comes forth and bares itself to the light.

This was such a day. I am fond of my friends, but I found no pleasure in the thought of meeting them that evening. I remembered the odious squeak in the wheels of Mrs. Dane's chair. I resented the way Sperry would clear his throat. I read in the morning paper Herbert Robinson's review of a book I had liked, and disagreed with him. Disagreed violently. I wanted to call him on the telephone and tell him that he was a fool. I felt old, although I am only fifty-three, old and bitter, and tired.

With the fall of twilight, things changed somewhat. I was more passive. Wretchedness encompassed me, but I was not wretched. There was violence in the air, but I was not violent. And with a bath and my dinner clothes I put away the horrors of the day.

My wife was better, but the cook had given notice. "There has been quarreling among the servants all day," my wife said. "I wish I could go and live on a desert island."

We have no children, and my wife, for lack of other interests, finds her housekeeping an engrossing and serious matter. She is in the habit of bringing her domestic difficulties to me when I reach home in the evenings, a habit which sometimes renders me justly indignant. Most unjustly, for she has borne with me for thirty years and is known throughout the entire neighborhood as a perfect housekeeper. I can close my eyes and find any desired article in my bedroom at any time.

We passed the Wellses' house on our way to Mrs. Dane's that night, and my wife commented on the dark condition of the lower floor.

"Even if they are going out," she said, "it would add to the appearance of the street to leave a light or two burning. But some people have no public feeling."

I made no comment, I believe. The Wellses were a young couple, with children, and had been known to observe that they considered the neighborhood "stodgy." And we had retaliated, I regret to say, in kind, but not with any real unkindness. They drove too many cars, and drove them too fast; they kept a governess and didn't see enough of their children; and their English butler made our neat maids look commonplace.

We went on to Mrs. Dane's. We were early, as my wife is a punctual person, and soon after our arrival Sperry came. Mrs. Dane was in her chair as usual, with her companion in attendance, and when she heard Sperry's voice outside she excused herself and was wheeled out to him, and together we heard them go into the drawing-room. When the Robinsons arrived she and Sperry reappeared, and we waited for her customary announcement of the evening's program. When none came, even during the meal, I confess that my curiosity was almost painful.

I think, looking back, that it was Sperry who turned the talk to the supernatural, and that, to the accompaniment of considerable glibing by the men he told a ghost story that set the women to looking back over their shoulders into the dark corners beyond the zone of candle-light. All of us, I remember, except Sperry and Mrs. Dane, were skeptical as to the supernatural, and Herbert Robinson believed that while there were so-called sensitives who actually went into trance, the controls which took possession of them were buried personalities of their own, released during trance from the sub-conscious mind.

"If not," he said truculently, "if they are really spirits, why can't they tell us what is going on, not in some vague plane, where they are always happy, but here and now, in the next house I don't ask for prophecy, but for some evidence of their knowledge. Who are going to be the next candidates for president? Is Horace here the gay dog some of us suspect?"

As I am the Horace in question, I must explain that Herbert was merely being facetious.

"Physical phenomena," scoffed the cynic. "I've seen it all—objects moving without visible hands, unexplained currents of cold air, voice through a trumpet—I know the whole rotten mess, and I've got a book which tells how to do all the tricks. I'll bring it along some night."

"As a matter of fact, Herbert," Mrs. Dane said, "we intend to put your skepticism to the test tonight. Doctor Sperry has found a medium for us, a nonprofessional and a patient of his, and she has kindly consented to give us a sitting. She is a total stranger to all of us except the doctor, and is a newcomer in town."

The butler wheeled out Mrs. Dane's chair, and led us to the drawing-room doors. There Sperry threw them open, and we saw that the room had been completely metamorphosed. The room had been dismantled. It opened before us, walls and chimney-piece bare, rugs gone from the floor, even curtains taken from the windows. To emphasize the change, in the center stood a common pine table surrounded by seven plain chairs. All the lights were out save one, a corner bracket, which was screened with a red paper shade.

Mrs. Dane watched us with keen satisfaction. "Such a time I had doing it!" she said. "The servants, of course, think I have gone mad. All except Clara. I told her. She's a sensible girl."

As the purely physical phenomena obtained proved relatively insignificant, it is not necessary to go into the detail of the room.

As I said at the beginning, this is not a ghost story. Parts of it we now understand, other parts we do not. For the physical phenomena we have no adequate explanation. They occurred. We saw and heard them. For the other part of the seance we have come to a conclusion satisfactory to ourselves, a conclusion not reached, however, until some of us had gone through some dangerous experiences, and had been brought into contact with things hitherto outside the orderly progression of our lives.

But at no time, although incredible things happened, did any one of us glimpse that strange world of the spirit that seemed so often almost within our range of vision.

Rex vs. Steve Hoynik. Accused pleaded guilty on first count and not guilty on second count. Sentence suspended for a period of six months on accused entering in his own recognizance for the sum of $200. The Court directed that a stay of proceedings be entered on the second count, which was done. J. W. Burgess, K.C., for the Crown, and C. G. Cornelle for the accused.

THE ILLUSTRATED WORD

A school farmer, being elected to the school board, visited the village school and tested the intelligence of the class by the question: "Now, boys, can any of you tell me what nothing is?"

After a moment's silence a small boy in a back seat arose: "It's what we find me the other day for holding yor horse."

A burning straw stack on the farm of J. W. Gable started the citizens on Friday evening last. The Wetaskiwin fire bell was rung, but the Wetaskiwin ladders could give no assistance. It is suspected that the fire was caused by transients.

WHEAT LIKELY TO SELL HIGHER

According to a statement issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the world wheat production in 1931, exclusive of Russia and China, is estimated to be 225,000,000 bushels less than in 1930. Statements on the Russian output agree that the production this year will be considerably below that of 1930, because of unfavorable weather during the seeding season and a midsummer drought. Conditions in China indicate a marked falling off in yield. Earlier European estimates of a big crop in the Danubian states have been discounted by later summaries. The India crop is much lighter than that of a year ago and the same applies to Australia and Argentina. There thus appears to be a world-wide decrease in wheat production and the estimate of 225,000,000 bushels, excluding Russia and China may not be far off the mark. Their shortage will add materially to the total decrease.

This marked decline in the new supply of wheat and the gradual diminution of the large carryovers in Canada and the United States are creating an improved outlook for wheat prices. In recent weeks the United States Farm Board has made deals with Brazil, China and Germany and private sales at sea-board, which have probably reduced the holdings by at least 65,000,000 bushels or one fourth of the total. It would not be surprising if there is an early strengthening in wheat prices, and owing to the generally high grade of this year's Canadian crop the Canadian wheat growers may receive an average price much higher than anticipated a few months ago.—Calgary Herald.

SAYS WHEAT BONUS TO BE $10,635,000

Alberta farmers will benefit to the extent of $5,065,000 by moneys received from the five-cent bonus on wheat, according to statistics from the W. Sanford Evans Statistical Service. This is an approximate figure estimated from preliminary surveys of crop yields in the various districts, and after deducting quantities for feed and other purposes, and it represents an estimated quantity of 101,300,000 bushels of wheat.

The disastrous extent of the drought and crop failure in Saskatchewan will be realized when only 88,300,000 bushels are estimated for that province, with a bonus of $4,415,000.

In normal times the wheat production in Saskatchewan is about double the quantity produced by Alberta.

In Manitoba, it is expected that a bonus of $1,155,000 will be paid for a production of 23,100,000 bushels.

In the central and northern districts of Alberta, it is estimated that an average bonus of $70 will be paid the farmer.

The total crop yield for the three western farmers is estimated at 212,700,000 bushels, on which a bonus of $10,635,000 will be paid.

RED DEER DEFEATED LOCAL RUGBY TEAM IN FIRST GAME

The Wetaskiwin High School rugby squad played the first league game at Red Deer last Friday.

The locals had the kick-off and then a real battle began. Each team was working hard and held its opponents to small gains. During the last part of the quarter Red Deer kicked the ball over the Wetaskiwin goal line, Appel received the ball, but before he was able to get away he was tackled behind the Wetaskiwin line, giving Red Deer a rouge for a single point.

In the second quarter the Wetaskiwin boys played better rugby. A long forward pass to Farnham advanced the team to within a yard of the Red Deer goal line. "Rollie" Miquelon, the star quarterback, then carried the ball over the line for the first touchdown of the day. He also got the convert. This made the score Wetaskiwin 6, Red Deer 1.

About halfway through the third quarter the Red Deer team scored three more points on a field goal, following the booting. A few minutes later Stinson got the ball and after some good broken field running scored a touchdown. Red Deer failed to get the convert. The score at the end of the last quarter read Wetaskiwin 6, Red Deer 9.

The Wetaskiwin boys went into the last quarter determined to regain the lead. They continually made yards and at last they were within a yard of the Red Deer goal. However Red Deer held the boys and got the ball. The locals were often near their opponents goal but were unable to score. When the final whistle blew the score still read Wetaskiwin 6, Red Deer 9.

Rollie Miquelon did a great deal of good work and managed the team little more experience he should become a first-rate quarterback. Farnham's playing was one of the highlights of the game. He made long runs on forward passes and proved to be one of Wetaskiwin's best bets.

The Wetaskiwin line was a good protection for all fake plays. Red Deer used mostly line-backs and end runs. The line-up was:

Wetaskiwin: Snap, Williamson; Insides, Spencer, Shaw; middles, B. Bickenshaw, Enman; wings, Farnham, Paton, quarterback, Miquelon; halves, Moore, Weiler; fullbacks, Jevne, Asp; subs, Brown, J. Bickenshaw, Appel, Zlatoustovsky.

Red Deer: Snap, Kalsier; insides, Martin, Carroll; middles, Parnell, Parks; wings, Blades, Burns; quarterback, Sinclair; halves, Sharon, Gram; fullbacks, Houghton, Ainsworth; subs, Brosch, Snell, Gordon, Ople.

Referee: Dr. H. C. Christie. Judge of play, Bill Payne.

RUGBY

A league game between the Wetaskiwin High School rugby team and the High School team from Lacombe will be played at the Athletic Park, Wetaskiwin, on Friday, October 9th, at 4:30. The boys have a new set of uniforms, and now have a snappy team. They need your support, so come out and help them win.

TEACHERS' CONVENTIONS DISCONTINUED THIS YEAR

At the last session of Parliament it was decided to move Thanksgiving Day forward to a date in October as was the custom up until a few years ago and observe November 11th in each year as "Remembrance Day." This has been celebrated heretofore as Armistice Day in conjunction with Thanksgiving, the joint holiday always being observed on the Monday of the week in which November 11th fell. Under the new legislation both days will be observed as public holidays. Thanksgiving has been proclaimed for Monday, October 12th, and Remembrance Day will fall on Wednesday, November 11th. Both will be school holidays.

As a measure of economy the usual district conventions of teachers will be discontinued for this year. School authorities and teachers reading this notice are asked to give it as wide publicity as possible that no confusion may result.

One two-year-old, a yearling and a ram lamb, all purebred Suffolks, were placed on the express car at Tilly, consigned to the national sale. $100 IN FINES FOR CONDUCTING LOTTERY

E. S. Brett, of Rocky Mt. House, appeared before Judge Mahaffy at Red Deer on Thursday afternoon and pleaded guilty to charges of conducting a scheme, or sweepstakes, at Rocky Mt. House on or about May 16, 1931, and to conducting the sale of tickets in connection therewith, both infractions of Sec. 236 of the Criminal Code of Canada. He had elected to be tried by speedy trial. Mr. John Quigg appeared for the Crown. The Judge fined Mr. Brett $75 and costs or six months on the first charge, and $25 or thirty days on the second charge. The fines and costs were both paid into court at once.

These charges were in connection with the second lottery put on by the Rocky Mt. House Post, Canadian Legion, B.E.S. League, to raise funds for their hall. A scheme for $250,000 was floated, the first prize in which was to be $75,000. The amount of money received for the sale of tickets was $19,000, of which close on $6,000, or what the managers considered the fair share of the money, went to the first prize ticket, held by a man in the Middle States. He considered he had been defrauded and appealed to the Minister of Justice of Canada at Ottawa for redress. His complaint was forwarded from Ottawa to the Attorney-General's department at Edmonton, which placed it in the hands of the A.P. Police, who took action under the clauses of the Criminal Code governing sweepstakes and lotteries.

The Vets at Rocky Mt. House, from the proceeds of the lottery, erected a spacious and well-fitted hall for the use of the Vets and of the community. The hall was given to the Women's Institute.

GROWING, SELECTION AND PREPARATION OF GRAIN AND SEED FOR EXHIBITION

Article No. 7
SELECTING SCREENS—HOW AND WHEN TO USE THEM

After a successful, normal harvest it is much easier to prepare samples for the fall or winter fair than to carry the seeds over and win with them at a show the following summer. The general reason for this is because the prevailing atmospheric condition on the farm, as well as in the show room at this time of the year, is more humid and cool; and if artificial efforts are not made use of to reduce the moisture content, the sample will not become sufficiently hard, or properly set, until nature performs the task naturally herself, when the warm and dry weather of spring sets in.

After mature has balanced up the moisture content of a sample to conform to the dry condition and warmth of the summer and the show room, it is a very common occurrence for an outstanding exhibit at a winter show to fall down badly at a summer exhibition; consequently, when finishing off a World's Grain Show sample to fit Regina's atmospheric conditions, too much emphasis cannot be placed on perfect maturity and the axiomatic, true hardness which follows.

A moisture test falling between 11.5 and 13 per cent is ideal to finish off with. (The local grain buyer will be happy to assist with the moisture test.)

A show sample is in best working condition when it is giving off moisture, therefore, in order to properly time the work on an exhibit, one must allow for at least a one per cent loss in moisture content while the sample is being finally manipulated and finished.

One may safely consider the kernel amply shrunk, and the skin sufficiently hard, to manipulate and finish when the moisture content has been reduced to about 14 per cent. It takes considerable leverage with a sharp knife to divide a kernel of wheat with a real snap at this stage. Oat tails and barley awns become quite brittle and rub off very easily. Dry pens and beams sound like marbles when rolled together, and any small seeds should form a powder when hit with a hammer.

Seeds with hulls seem to dry more slowly. The writer sometimes finds it advantageous to further reduce the volume in the sacks and keep them hung up during the last few days of completing the reversing and drying process as described in the last article.

The way is now paved for the second step when screens, etc., may be used to the best advantage. Choose zinc screens when possible because zinc is far more accurate and uniform than the wire mesh.

There is a variation between the same named screening from different material and by different manufacturers. The mesh of perforation may be apparently the same in identical screens, but there is a variation in the work performed. One screen may have been used more than another. Different motions produce different results. One man's work and methods differ from that of another. The thickness and finish of the material may be different. Yes, even the temperature of the air at the different times of the screening may not have been constant.

Screen by hand whenever possible, and use only one screen at a time. It may take a little longer, but the results will be so much more nearly accurate. The individual touch can control the cleaning of screens at regular intervals.

Screens are not overloaded when no more than 3 to 6 ounces are placed on a square foot of screen surface at one time, and the seeds can be thoroughly divided before a shift is made.

The possibility of human error and mechanical mixing is much less.

With the exception of exposing to direct sunlight, one need have no fear of damaging the color of any seed by the use of different lights while working on them.

If working a prize sample in a room where there is a danger of the temperature being above 70 degrees F., sprinkle the floor with water at regular intervals or keep the furnace well watered and the kettle boiling.

Never expose seeds in thinly spread out quantities for any more than a few minutes at a time. It is best to keep them in bulk as much as possible at this time.

Avoid handling seeds with the fingers when possible. The human skin is always damp with perspiration, and contact with the seeds will develop shady spots.

Screens are easily damaged. Handle them with care, keep them in good repair, and dependable, uniform work may be assured. Plan a systematic method of screening in the following order: first, scalp and take off the large, rough and clumsy oversized kernels; second, as plumpness is usually controlled by thickness, use a slotted screen for plumpness; third, as the width of the seed usually controls the apparent size, use round or square screens for this; and, a fourth screening may sometimes be used on types of seed which have an extreme variation in length, such as some varieties of wheat, rye, oats, beans, etc. Here a repeated sliding, or rotating motion, over a smooth, round, oversized zinc screen, with a little dexterity and practice, gives surprising results.

When a sample of seed has been reduced to about twice the volume of the quantity required by the show prize list, it is a good practice to "lick up" the seed, before each further and different screening process is carried out, by dividing the sample into no less than four parts. Place one part at a time in a cream can, or a treddle barrel churn, or a common grain sack, shake it up for not more than a minute or two. Finish by passing through a dry breeze outside, or over a large sized, fine mesh, hand screen inside, for the purpose of removing the free particles of feed coating, etc. This operation tends to "given up" and help uniform the work performed. A "pounds per bushel scale" is a real asset at this time to keep check on your work.

The following suggestions of size, shape, and methods of manipulation will help the prospective exhibitor to make the proper selection of screening to conform to any kind of show seed. A winning sample of any variety or kind of wheat should pass through a 10/64, round perforation, and stay on top of a 13/128 long slot, and 17/128, round hole.

A good sample of white or yellow oats (not early) should pass through a 13/128, long slotted perforation, and stay on top of a 1/12 long zinc, or a 2x11, wire mesh. A round perforated screen is of no value in sizing up oats; but a large, oversized, smooth zinc, round hole screen, with perforations from 10/64 to 13/4, will work wonders in "sliding" or "tilling" out the secondary or "pin" oats.

which are most objectionable in building up uniformity. Most of the long, bulky, "double" oats are removed by a generous scalping with an oversized, long screen, and most of the thick hulled, light weight oats are blown away by the controlled blast of air from any common fanning mill or by a steady wind out in the dry, open air.

"This is the best time to shorten up" or "clip" the ends off the oats. By all means be patient and take time about this most touch operation. Extreme care must be exercised so as not to crush the job by exposing the kernel covered by the hull, and detracting from the artistic effect. This exposure also lowers the vitality of the seed, and believe it or not, a short, mushroomed, loose end, open and split sample of oats, will not weigh as much to the bushel as will the sample treated in a more kindly and less extreme manner. The writer's method of treatment is to divide the oat sample into a few common flour sacks, shake them with an end to end motion for a few minutes at a time, with an hour or so between shakes in a drying atmosphere. Then give them a day's rest, after which you may clean out the loose hull dust and repeat the process until you get the desired finish. At this time there is no danger of keeping the oat sample too dry.

Early oats are not inclined to be as thick or wide in proportion to length as are the common white oats.

Six-rowed barley should pass through a 10/64, round, hole screen, and stay on top of a 9/64, round, and 13/128, slotted screen. Hullless barley should comply with the same sizes. The awns are very stubborn and can stand much rougher handling than oats. In addition they should be "layered" in a small tub or dish pan and "chopped" with such an article as the open end of a lard pail or a baking powder tin, so as to gradually help loosen and shorten these stubborn awns. But one must ever be careful not to split the hull, or expose too many kernels. A bushel sample of six rowed barley can be finished off by sacrificing very little weight and still keep the kernel intact and the awns not too short. Judges hardly ever overlook this artistic care when placing the barley classes.

Treble barley is inclined to be a little longer in proportion to width than the six rowed and sometimes even awns.

The two rowed varieties are larger, and smoother, and broader, in proportion to length, than the six rowed, therefore, they can stand a little larger screening. The awns are much more easily removed.

Barley, like oats, cannot be kept too dry at this time.

The ryes, are so variegated in size and shape that the best advice is to choose the "happy medium" for your sample. You may thus secure kernels which will be smoother, more nearly straight and of greater uniformity of length. Slotted screens are the best suited to uniform rye, and oversized, round holes to even up the length.

Timothy should pass through a 20x20 square wire mesh, and stay on long, wire mesh, and the fewer seeds top of a 1/25, round hole, and 6x24 removed with the hulls the better.

Flax seed should pass through a 7/64, round hole, and stay on top of a 11/128, round hole, and long mesh screen of any small wire, long mesh screen that will let the most of the thin and dented kernels pass through.

Small, yellow peas should pass through 33/128, round hole, and stay on top of a 15/64, long slotted hole. Large, yellow peas must be at least 18/64 in diameter to meet the specifications of the World's prize list definition of "large."

"Any other variety" peas may be any size and shape so long as they are smooth and uniform.

This "happy medium" applies to all preparation of exhibition seed. With no exception all good samples of show seed obey Nature's rules of the "happy medium." Nature never goes to the extreme with anything beautiful, and real beauty is only to be found in a seed exhibit when there is a balancing up of those quality properties of economic value, so as to make the effort convincing and agreeable to the eye.

Every seed exhibit reflects an individuality in direct relation to the way a sure and the exhibitor collaborates while moulding the sample together, from the very time the soil is prepared for the mother seed right up until the beautiful progeny is placed before the judges to await their decision.

The next article will include a discussion of color.

TWELFTH FORTNIGHTLY CROP REPORT

(Issued by the Dept. of Agriculture, Edmonton, Alberta, Oct. 3rd, 1931)

Cutting of grain is ninety-five per cent completed throughout the province. A few late fields of green feed in the northern districts remain but this does not amount to more than about five per cent of the crop area.

The amount of threshing done varies considerably. A period of from one to two weeks of dull, rainy weather caused threshing operations to cease over practically the whole province. The past week has been generally dry and bright and threshing has been resumed. South of Calgary about ninety per cent of threshing is completed and this proportion gradually decreases towards the north. In the area east and northeast of Edmonton threshing is only commenced and will not be general until next week. In the central part of the province about twenty per cent of wheat has been threshed and in the Peace River district about thirty-five per cent.

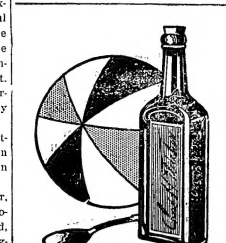

Yields are satisfactory in all parts of the province with the exception of the dry area. Grades have been adversely affected by previous wet weather, a condition which has been rapidly improving within the past few days. With present weather conditions it is hoped that a very large proportion of wheat in the northern districts will receive straight grades in the course of a few days.

Harvesting of sugar beets is in progress in the irrigated district in the south, about twenty-five per cent of the crop having been handled. Conditions with regard to sugar beets have steadily improved throughout the season and it is now estimated that the yield per acre will be at least equal to that of last year. The sugar content is also reported to be high.

Potato digging is in progress. A fair crop of good quality is reported in the southern part of the province and a heavy crop in the northern districts.

Very little fall plowing has been done.

Feeder cattle are moving in considerable numbers to feed lots in southern Alberta, particularly in the irrigated areas where there is an abundance of alfalfa and other fodder. There is a considerable movement of cattle out from the dry area to those parts of the province where feed is plentiful. Pasture conditions have been slightly improved in the south by recent rains.

ACRY in the night. Colic! No cause for alarm if Castoria is handy. This pure vegetable preparation soothes quick comfort and can never harm. It is the sensible thing when children are illing. Whether it's the stomach, or the little bowels; colic or constipation; or diarrhea. When tiny tongues are coated, or the little face shows the redness of gentle regulation. Children love the taste of Castoria, and its mildness makes it safe for frequent use.

The Mother of Seven Children Used It for Diarrhoea

Mrs. Bay Drinkwater, R.R. No. 2, Hagersville, Ont., writes:—"I am the mother of seven children, and last summer one of them, 17 months old, was taken very sick with diarrhoea, and I thought she was going to die. My husband went 7 miles to see what my sister had given her baby, and he came home with a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I gave the child a few doses and she was soon well again. My other children also had diarrhoea at that time and I gave them 'Dr. Fowler's' with the same results."

CO-OPERATION

Co-operation is a word which is used rather too freely; also, it has been misused to such an extent that some people are apt to be irritated when they are told that they should co-operate. Nevertheless, the term does express the idea of working together, of team play, and it is about this which we wish to say something to our readers.

The schools are now open, and the parents of the school children are naturally anxious that their children should do well in school and secure the greatest benefit possible out of the time given to their studies. The entire responsibility for this does not rest on the school staff. The parents have their part to play, which is more than simply paying school taxes. If the best results are to be obtained, parents must co-operate with the school, and the school with the parents.

The child should be properly prepared for school. The child who has diseased tonsils, or who cannot breathe properly through his nose on account of adenoids is not properly prepared for school. His time there will not be spent to the best advantage. The school cannot alter this condition, but the parents can.

The child who requires glasses is handicapped until he is properly fitted with the glasses he needs. Tooth-held by some scientists to account for the difference between races. They govern to quite an extent height, slenderness of breadth, length of arms and legs, shape of face, quality of voice, distribution of hair or of fat on the body, possibly skin pigment, masculine characteristics in women such as deep voice and masculine features and even the emotions.

Chemists have been isolating hormones for several years. Their application to human health has been difficult, but some of the leaders of the medical profession reported today on progress.

A girl who stopped growing at six was described by William Englebach, M.D., of New York City. A growth hormone, extracted from animals, was given to make up for a deficiency in secretion from the girl's own pituitary. In less than two years she grew nearly three inches. The circumference of her head increased six inches. Her weight rose 7½ pounds.

Dr. Englebach said the general medical profession can not obtain growth hormones because of difficulties about purifying them. He predicted these hormones will be available soon; and with them another from the same gland that will control sex development.

BIDDY CAN BE PLUCKED IN TWO MINUTES BY MACHINE

It is certainly interesting to note that a machine has been developed which will pull the feathers off a hen faster than it can be done by hand and do a better job. By the simple process of using sets of aluminum discs, each revolving at a slightly different plane than the other, an efficient plucker is produced. The discs are lined with rubber, eliminating noise and giving a better grip. They operate at a speed of fifty plucks per second.

On easy birds the plucking can be completed in two minutes, while on young roosters about three and a half minutes are required. The saving effected by this machine is better appreciated when it is considered that an average speed for hand plucking is around six birds an hour.

This is one of the interesting items gleaned from the International Review of Poultry Science.

"DON'T HAVE TO" MERCHANT

DOESN'T GET VERY FAR

The bird who says "I don't have to advertise for everyone knows who I am, where I am, and what I sell," will never make any more than a living. The average shopper does not care who a merchant is, where he is, or what he sells. But, he does care what information as to cost of what he wants without wasting steps. So, Advertise.—The Life of the Town, Bellows Falls, Vt.

THE OLD SPIRIT

After a certain fight, the surgeon told the chaplain that one poor fellow was quite beyond hope. The chaplain leaned over the dying soldier.

"Well, my dear fellow," he began in a voice of deep emotion, "you are very badly wounded and if you have anything to say, or any word that you want set to your family, tell me now." The poor fellow understood. "My inside coat pocket," he breathed painfully.

The chaplain felt a pocketbook there and took it out. "Is that what you want?"

"Yes," was the faint reply. "Open it."

"Here is a ten-shilling note. Is that what you want?"

"Yes."

"What shall I do with it?"

"Then the soldier said in a whisper, 'But you can't do it.'"

And he did not.

Golfers' alibi for neglecting his business: "The doctor says I must take my iron every day."

Mrs. A. Nichols left Thursday for Wetaskiwin where she will reside.—Castor Advance.

The spare tire on D. A. Ward's auto was stolen a few evenings ago, as the car was parked near the C. P. R. baggage room. We understand several cars in town have been drained of their gas during the last few evenings.

The annual meeting of the Institute Girls' Club will be held in the Institute club rooms on Wednesday, October 14th, at 8 o'clock. It is the intention of the club to form an orchestra, and all teen age girls are cordially invited.

While a party of duck hunters were out Thursday evening in the vicinity of Dennis school, they encountered a moose standing on the road looking at some horses grazing at the road side. They drove their car within a few yards of the animal before it jumped a fence and disappeared in the brush.—Ponoka Herald.

A wet cloudy day on Monday last interrupted threshing, which had just nicely commenced in the district. At time of going to press, threshing machines are running full capacity. The grain buyers report that the wheat marketed so far this season is of good quality, there being a lot of No. 2 coming in.

The north end garage at Ponoka was broken into Friday morning between the hours of four and five o'clock. An employee of the Northern Oil Company was sleeping in the garage at the time and heard a noise, but on getting up saw no person, but discovered that the front window had been broken and on further investigation found that two car heaters had been taken.

Shorty Nelson of the Wetaskiwin district, claims to have established a record for the hauling of the biggest load of wheat to Wetaskiwin a few days ago. The load weighed five tons, and three hundred pounds, which is equivalent to one hundred and seventy-one bushels, and forty pounds. It was hauled from the farm of Nels Nelson, 5 miles east of Wetaskiwin, using four trucks, and was taken to the MacEachern Milling Company.

FEEDING PULLETS FOR WINTER EGG PRODUCTION

(Experimental Farms Note)

During the late fall and winter months as a general rule egg prices are very much higher than at any other time throughout the year. Every poultry raiser should realize, therefore, that if he gets good egg production then it will pay him well. Fall and winter production is the keynote to greatest profits. As the great bulk of the adult birds will be resting and undergoing moulting processes during the fall and winter months, the pullets are left practically as the only source of fresh eggs at that time. Thus, the chief concern of the poultry-keeper should be to give the pullets the best possible attention in order that they may produce to their maximum capacity. Pullets should not lay until they are mature, and for this reason poultrymen should aim to have their young stock mature before the cold weather begins in the fall. Early hatched pullets that start to lay in October or November are the ones to keep for egg production. It is the early hatched and fully mature pullets in good healthy condition that will produce the eggs during the late fall and winter months.

Pullets require careful feeding during the fall and winter to secure profitable egg production. They rely on do better on a variety of feeds providing these are palatable. Laying pullets should be fed a ration consisting of scratch grains and mash, meat food, green food, mineral food, grit and drink.

At the Dominion Experimental Station, Lacombe, Alberta, a dry mash mixture kept in hoppers constantly before the flock, is made up of equal parts of bran, shorts, barley meal and finely ground oats to which is added about twenty per cent beef scrap. Milk replaces the meat scrap when the flock can have access to all they will drink. When milk is available only part of the time about ten per cent beef scrap is added to the ground feed mixture. To this mixture is added 3 per cent bone meal, about one cent fine table salt and 2 per cent cod liver oil.

A home-mixed scratch grain consisting of equal parts of wheat, oats and barley is scattered in a deep litter of straw in the morning, and again in the afternoon, than in the morning. This induces the birds to exercise. Grit and oyster shell are available in hoppers and green feed is supplied either by alfalfa leaves or mangles, carrots, cabbage and sprout ed oats.

Shortness of Breath and Dizziness Could Get No Relief

Mr. P. Rapchuk, 405-7th Ave. E., Calgary, Alta., writes: "Some time ago I was troubled with shortness of breath and dizziness. I tried doctor's medicine, and other remedies, but could not get any relief. I was then advised to take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I did, and found them of great help to me. I only took two boxes, and since then I have not had any of these attacks."
